Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 17 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Unsettled for the next few days, and cooler from Friday.

Today:
Largely dry at first with some brighter spells in places. Cloud thickening during the morning with thundery showers developing. Though most parts becoming dry again later in the afternoon, perhaps with the odd bright spell developing. Maximum temperature 28 deg C (82 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly cloudy with patchy light rain developing by midnight. After midnight the rain will turn persistent and heavy with thunderstorms in places. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
A cloudy day with long periods of locally heavy and thundery rain. Perhaps some drier and brighter spells developing during the evening before heavy rain returns overnight. Much cooler. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Early heavy rain clearing early on Saturday leaving a mostly dry day. Unsettled on Sunday and Monday with thundery showers, merging at times into longer spells of locally heavy rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.